WELCOME TO THE NEW SSAFA STORE CATALOGUE

Chris
Walks the UK
Collection
Page 11

In 2017, former Paratrooper Chris Lewis had hit rock bottom, suffering with depression so severe he would shut himself in his bedroom for weeks. He had struggled to cope with life on 'civvy street' after leaving the military and finding himself homeless. SSAFA stepped in to help him, but when he faced homelessness for a second time, he decided to embark on an incredible journey.

In August 2017, Chris took £10 and a bit of camping gear and set off to raise money for SSAFA by walking the entire coastline of the British Isles.

The trek, which took six years, brought both physical and mental challenges. But it also led to happiness, sometimes in unexpected ways. The 19,000 mile walk saw Chris befriend a dog, Jet, find love with his partner, Kate, and have a child, Magnus. It also led Chris to write his first book, Finding Hildasay, based on his experience.

On 29 July 2023, Chris finished his 19,000 mile walk in Wales. His story has connected deeply with people from across the world, many of whom showed up to celebrate the end of this journey.

With the support of the SSAFA community and his supporters, who he describes as "the kindest, the most generous people", he has raised over £500,000.

Speaking to the crowd at the end of this journey, surrounded by his family, friends, and followers, Chris shared: "Have a goal, have a dream and stay focused".

Choirs

The Military Wives Choirs is a charity which connects over 2,000 women in the military community in 70 choirs across the world through singing, which is scientifically proven to increase wellbeing and improve mental and physical health. The Military Wives Choirs gives members the opportunity to spend time with women that truly understand the challenges associated with military life, creating a support network through the power of singing.
